Report on save water

Report:

The save water event was organized by Our Lady College of Education on 25.11.20. According to recent reports, nearly 1.2 billion people lack access to clean drinking water. Furthermore, water shortages can cause a variety of illnesses which can range from food poisoning to cholera. Typically, water scarcity is driven by two important factors – which are the increasing use of freshwater and the depletion of usable freshwater resources. Furthermore, scarcity can be of two types – physical water scarcity and economic water scarcity. Physical water scarcity is caused when a natural water resource is unable to meet the demands of a particular region. Economic water scarcity is caused by the mismanagement of sufficiently available water resources.

Report On Voluntary service for Orphanages

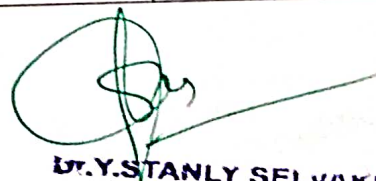

Report:

Voluntary service for Orphanages was organized by Our Lady College of education. If you're thinking about donating your time and money to an orphanage in South Asia, you may be contributing to separating children and their families and, worse, putting children at risk. Across the world, the popularity of volunteering programmes in orphanages is increasing. These types of programmes - though often supported by well-meaning tourists - can fuel human trafficking, trap children in inappropriate environments and harm their development. Shockingly, many children in orphanages are not orphans. Instead, they have been separated from their families to attract fee-paying volunteers. The family is a nurturing and caring environment and is the ideal place to raise a child. Genuine orphans can be successfully reunified with extended family members such as uncles, aunts, grandparents, cousins or older brothers and sisters or other families. If you aren't a qualified professional, please reconsider volunteering with children - especially in orphanages and other institutions. Students and faculty learn and explore the value of voluntary service. It is as such a great service or contribution to the society and people living in it.

Report On Voluntary service for Orphanages

Report:

Voluntary service for Orphanages was organized by Our Lady College of education. If you're thinking about donating your time and money to an orphanage in South Asia, you may be contributing to separating children and their families and, worse, putting children at risk. Across the world, the popularity of volunteering programmes in orphanages is increasing. These types of programmes - though often supported by well-meaning tourists - can fuel human trafficking, trap children in inappropriate environments and harm their development. Shockingly, many children in orphanages are not orphans. Instead, they have been separated from their families to attract fee-paying volunteers. The family is a nurturing and caring environment and is the ideal place to raise a child. Genuine orphans can be successfully reunified with extended family members such as uncles, aunts, grandparents, cousins or older brothers and sisters or other families. If you aren't a qualified professional, please reconsider volunteering with children - especially in orphanages and other institutions. Students and faculty learn and explore the value of voluntary service. It is as such a great service or contribution to the society and people living in it.

Report On International Literacy Day

Report:

International Literacy Day takes place on September 8 every year to raise awareness and concern for literacy problems that exist within our own local communities as well as globally. International Literacy Day was founded by proclamation of The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, or UNESCO, in 1966 —to remind the public of the importance of literacy as a matter of dignity and human rights. International Literacy Day brings ownership of the challenges of illiteracy back home to local communities where literacy begins, one person at a time. Observe this day by utilizing resources such as Scholaroo — a platform that provides information on scholarships from around the world. On International Literacy Day, organizations and individual stake charge and use their literacy to encourage and assist those who are facing difficulties on how to read and write. Report On NSS DAY

Report:

The International NSS day was organized by Our Lady College of Education on 29.10.21. Not Me But You defines the philosophy of NSS. The welfare of every individual is dependent on the welfare of society; hence, every volunteer must strive for the betterment of society. National Service Scheme, also known as NSS, is an extension of activities for students pursuing higher education to increase their participation in community service, in addition to their curriculum. Each volunteer must complete 120 hours of social service in one academic year. September 24 is observed as NSS Day since 1969 and is marked across the nation with great enthusiasm. It is the day when this public service scheme was officially launched in India. In this occasion all the NSS volunteers pledge for NSS service. A total of about 100 students and faculty members participated in this event. The event started around 10 am in auditorium hall.
